2020 Annual Report

Operations

No One Left Behind (NOLB) helped more SIV families in 2020 than at any other time over the course of its 7-year history. We provided 636 families in 93 cities in 20 states with more than $400,000 in direct aid despite the COVID-19 pandemic. We completed an internal business process re-engineering effort that greatly streamlined the way we provide aid to our clients. The new model of establishing SIV Ambassadors in Seattle, Dallas, Houston, and Northern Virginia, a recommendation of General Petraeus, revolutionized the organization’s ability to work with the SIV diaspora of approximately 30,000 families much more fully than our previous chapter model. It has brought founder Janis Shinwari’s vision to life.

The Board of Directors continued to make massive strides in maturing NOLB as an efficient and transparent nonprofit, and approved a FY21 budget at its annual winter meeting. NOLB passed its first independent financial review earlier in 2020, which set the organization up to meet all 20 of the Better Business Bureau’s Wise Giving Alliance standards, earning its accreditation in 2021: https://give.org/charity-reviews/national/Human-Services/No-One-Left-Behind-in-Merrifield-va-52867.

NOLB also earned the Guide Star Platinum Seal of Transparency (https://www.guidestar.org/profile/47-1251659) and the 2020 Great NonProfits Top-Rated designation (https://greatnonprofits.org/org/no-one-left-behind-inc). These efforts prepared NOLB to pass its first full independent financial audit, which is a major milestone for any nonprofit in only its 8th year of operation: https://nooneleft.org/impact/

At the end of 2020, NOLB exceeded the Better Business Bureau Wise Giving Alliance standard of 65% of all donations going to programs as well as Forbes’ 70% standard:

#NOLBMORALOBIGATION

76 cents of every dollar we spend goes directly to help SIV families in the U.S.
The Board of Directors identified a customer relationship management (CRM) solution through the software as a service (SaaS) company Monday.com. The cost of this SaaS is $1/20th the cost of a customized CRM tool. This solution came to us via one of our SIV Ambassadors and is illustrative of how NOLB learns from the SIV community to improve its operations. The pandemic caused over 2,500 SIVs in 24 states to reach out for help, and Monday.com kept us organized.

Per our SIV Ambassadors, we informed the SIV community in October that we would focus only on those families who came to the U.S. within the last 12 months. We will transition towards providing more targeted support that allows new SIVs to achieve self-sufficiency as soon as possible (e.g. financial assistance for a used car, financial assistance for rent or job training, and employment opportunities).

Though we could not assist over 1,800 requests due to resource limitations, we begin 2021 working to help 71 newly arrived SIV families who we consider to be the most vulnerable.
A highlight of this effort was our partnership with The Change Reaction (https://www.changereaction.org) to offer $200,000 in no-interest loans to SIV applicants. We awarded 86 loans and 20 grants through this program. The donors very generously awarded grants instead of loans to SIVs who arrived in 2020. More than 90% of the loans have been repaid on time. The funds are then available as loans to other SIVs in need.

Additionally, we worked with Uber to feed over 80 families with 400 meals using UberEats credits.

We made new connections with Church World Service (CWS), Episcopal Migration Ministries (EMM), Ethiopian Community Development Council (ECDC), Hebrew Immigrant Aid Society (HIAS), International Rescue Committee (IRC), Lutheran Immigration and Refugee Services (LIRS), U.S. Committee for Refugees and Immigrants (USCRI), United States Conference of Catholic Bishops (USCCB), and World Relief Corporation (WR) and worked with Upwardly Global to provide a job skills Zoom call to SIVs on Veterans Day. We also worked with NOLB’s former Rochester chapter now known as Keeping Our Promise Rochester to support 20 car grants to local SIVs and provided Second Families out of San Diego with a grant to assist SIVs in their area.

We coordinated with the Government Accountability Office to further their research into the SIV community (https://www.gao.gov/products/GAO-18-107) by creating our own annual survey: https://form.jotform.com/202924969090160, which has given us the following insight into the SIV diaspora here in the United States:

- State PRM: Approximately 30,000 SIV families (90,000 individuals) have arrived since the program began in 2007.
- NOLB: 7% of SIVs have received their US citizenship, which takes 4-7 years.
- NOLB: 50% drove for Uber, Lyft, and/or Amazon prior to the pandemic as their primary means of income.
- GAO: $12.04 average hourly wage, NOLB: $17.21 average hourly wage. Compare these to $10.21 average hourly wage for other types of refugees.
- GAO: 82% of SIVs are self-sufficient after 6 months.
- Pew: Sacramento, Seattle, Houston, N. Virginia are the major SIV communities; State PRM offers placement in 24 other cities.
- NOLB: 94% of SIVs are 25-44 years of age.
- NOLB: Average SIV family size is 4.4 people.
- NOLB: 79% of SIVs rent and pay an average of $1,500 per month.
- NOLB: 45% of SIVs have an undergraduate or graduate degree from a foreign university.
- NOLB: 58% worked with DoD
- NOLB: 13% of SIVs worked with Special Operations Forces.
- State PRM: SIVs arrive in the U.S. as green card holders and receive federal resettlement aid for 6 months.
- NOLB: Many SIVs have similar issues that U.S. Veterans endure but cannot seek treatment at the Department of Veterans Affairs because they are not "U.S. veterans."

Our most successful partnership, however, has been with the University of Southern California’s Suzanne Dworak-Peck School of Social Work (https://dworakpeck.usc.edu). The Master’s degree students who were selected by NOLB have exceeded the Board’s expectations in terms of client work, organization, and innovation.
As we plan for 2021, we expect to see a significant increase in new SIV arrivals. According to the Department of State’s Refugee Processing Center, Afghan SIV arrivals have decreased significantly since FY17 but did improve in FY20:

FY17: 16,866
FY18: 9,651
FY19: 7,698
FY20: 9,349

The incoming Biden administration has publicly stated its support to expand the SIV program and raise the immigration cap. We expect the number of new families arriving in 2021 to be near 4,000 (similar to the height of FY17). The Board and SIV Ambassadors are working on refining our internal processes and external partnerships to provide as much support as possible to these families.

NOLB’s positive social impact on the SIV community is clear. Our metrics driven approach gives us tangible benchmarks to improve on in 2021. Given constrained resources, we are currently only able to meet a quarter of all the requests we receive. We are working to scale our fundraising and infrastructure to help a larger number of new arrivals next year.

Advocacy

No One Left Behind has received inquiries from press and veterans in the UK, Australia, Bosnia, and now the Czech Republic seeking guidance. These are in addition to the requests from applicants in Afghanistan, Iraq, Pakistan, India, Germany, Turkey Ireland, and the Philippines. We are now recognized as the international leader in keeping this moral obligation.

Throughout 2020, we built upon our strong relationships in Congress and made significant in-roads at the Department of State, Department of Defense, National Visa Center, and U.S. Customs and Immigration Services. We will continue advocating for our allies through NOLB’s third Presidential administration and fifth Congress, spanning eight Secretaries of Defense and three Secretaries of State. We have document all support for SIVs on https://nooneleft.org/advocacy.

We were proud that our work helped support a $52M increase to the Afghan SIV program in the FY20 President’s Budget. SIVs were also exempt from the April 22, 2020 Presidential Proclamation Suspending Entry of Immigrants Who Present Risk to the U.S. Labor Market During the Economic Recovery Following the COVID-19 Outbreak.

However, based on current arrival figures from the State Department, it will take 10 years to keep promise to our Afghan allies and over 100 years to keep our promise to our Iraqi partners.

The FY21 National Defense Authorization Act (NDAA) Senate bill included the following language:

It is the sense of the Senate that—
(1) the special immigrant visa program for Afghan allies is critical to the mission in Afghanistan and the long-term interests of the United States;

1 https://www.wrapsnet.org/admissions-and-arrivals/
(2) maintaining a robust special immigrant visa program for Afghan allies is necessary to support United States Government personnel in Afghanistan who need translation, interpretation, security, and other services;
(3) Afghan allies routinely risk their lives to assist United States military and diplomatic personnel;
(4) honoring the commitments made to Afghan allies with respect to the special immigrant visa program is essential to ensuring—
   (A) the continued service and safety of such allies; and
   (B) the willingness of other like-minded individuals to provide similar services in any future contingency;
(5) the Afghan Allies Protection Act of 2009 (8 U.S.C. 1101 note) states that all Government-controlled processing of applications for special immigrant visas under that Act “should be completed not later than 9 months after the date on which an eligible alien submits all required materials to complete an application for such visa”;
(6) any backlog in processing special immigrant visa applications should be addressed as quickly as possible so as to honor the United States commitment to Afghan allies as soon as possible;
(7) failure to process such applications in an expeditious manner puts lives at risk and jeopardizes a critical element of support to United States operations in Afghanistan; and
(8) to prevent harm to the operations of the United States Government in Afghanistan, additional visas should be made available to principal aliens who are eligible for special immigrant status under that Act.

The final FY21 National Defense Authorization Act (NDAA) Conference Report included the following language:

The conferees note that the special immigrant visa program for Afghan allies is critical to the mission in Afghanistan and the long-term interests of the United States. Maintaining a robust special immigrant visa program for Afghan allies is necessary to support United States Government personnel in Afghanistan. Afghan allies routinely risk their lives to assist United States military and diplomatic personnel. Honoring the commitments made to Afghan allies with respect to the special immigrant visa program is essential to ensuring the continued service and safety of such allies, and the willingness of other like-minded individuals to provide similar services in any future contingency.

The conferees further note that the Afghan Allies Protection Act of 2009 (8 U.S.C. 1101 note) states that all Government-controlled processing of applications for special immigrant visas under that Act should be completed not later than 9 months after the date on which an eligible alien submits all required materials to complete an application for such visa. Any backlog in processing special immigrant visa applications should be addressed as quickly as possible so as to honor the United States commitment to Afghan allies as soon as possible. The failure to process such applications in an expeditious manner puts lives at risk and jeopardizes a critical element of support to United States operations in Afghanistan. To prevent harm to the operations of the United States Government in Afghanistan, the conferees urge the Administration to make additional visas available to principal aliens who are eligible for special immigrant status under that Act.

The FY21 NDAA increased the number of visas by 120 to a total of 22,620 and extended Afghan SIV program to December 31, 2022. This was despite Senators Shaheen and Wicker calling for an additional 4,000 visas:

Our recommendations were well received by the State Department Office of Inspector General team, which included many of them in their final report to the House Foreign Affairs, Armed Services, and Judiciary committees and the Senate Foreign Relations, Armed Services, and Judiciary committees per the FY20 NDAA:

No One Left Behind completed an internal review of 6 years of emails and Facebook messages concluding that:

Since October 2001, several hundred Afghan interpreters and their family members were systematically targeted and killed because of their affiliation with the United States. Dozens more survived assassination attempts. The exact number of retributive murders is unknown as there was never a comprehensive interpreter-casualty tracking system put in place by the United States or its NATO allies. All evidence comes from disparate sources including firsthand accounts and open source reporting. Databases of interpreters employed by the U.S. Government or by U.S. Government contractors were not available for this study. Among the victims include Rep. Mike Waltz's Afghan interpreter and his family members who were beheaded while waiting for their visas.

We published our findings on RealClearDefense.com:

https://www.realcleardefense.com/articles/2020/09/19/over_300_afghan_translators_and_family_killed_while_serving_the_us_577997.html

And we issued the following demand to the Taliban negotiating for peace in Doha:

We call on you to immediately halt attacks in Afghanistan, not just attacks on US and other Coalition Forces, but also those on Afghan Security Forces and Afghans who served with US and Coalition Forces as interpreters. You have been systematically targeting our Afghan partners and our Afghan interpreters. Any peace agreement must protect them, and failure to cease attacks will bring condemnation on you and undermine the effort to achieve a durable peace agreement. It is time to demonstrate that you truly seek peace and not just release of your detainees and removal of Coalition Forces.

Sens. Shaheen and Kaine, Reps. Beyer and Waltz, former UN Ambassador Nikki Haley, Afghan Ambassador Roya Rahmani, and actress Kirstie Alley all tweeted about SIVs and NOLB over the course of the year. General Petraeus highlighted the work of NOLB on his LinkedIn page several times about us as well. Rep. Waltz published this op-ed discussing how one of his translators named “Spartacus” was beheaded while waiting for his visa:

We continue to work with the Office of the Secretary of Defense and the Joint Staff to develop a DoD definition of “foreign interpreter,” which was a major operational gap the State Department Office of Inspector noted in its 2008 report on the Iraqi SIV program. Our proposed definition is now in its 3rd legal review. Below is the proposed definition:

Foreign interpreter — A local national (non-U.S. citizen) employed by the U.S. Government (USG) or USG contractor / sub-contractor to provide direct foreign cultural and language support in the form of spoken translation and/or written translation to USG personnel. An interpreter is eligible for the Department of State Special Immigrant Visa program upon at least (1) year of faithful and valuable service as recorded by a Letter of Employment containing dates of service and receipt of either a non pro forma General Officer Letter of Recommendation (LOR) / Certificate of Appreciation (CoA) or USG equivalent recognition. Also called a translator, combat translator, cultural advisor, or simply ‘terp.’ (JP 3-16, JP 6-0, JP 4-02, JP 3-33, JP 4-10, JP 3-24, JP 3-07.3, JP 1-0, JP 3-06)
Our resolution with Veterans of Foreign Wars passed at its Council of Administration meeting in lieu of the 121st National Convention, resultant of the pandemic. This was our third year getting our resolution from the local and state levels to the national body. The Special Forces Association and the Marine Raider Association also endorsed our efforts to streamline the SIV program. They join the American Legion, Vietnam Veterans of America, IAVA, MOAA, and Wounded Warrior Project which represent over 5 million U.S. veterans.

Currently, we have collected over 166,000 signatures on Change.org:

Across the Atlantic, our efforts with the Daily Mail’s Betrayal of the Brave campaign convinced Defence Secretary Ben Wallace and Home Secretary Priti Patel to announced they were changing the rules for British translators waiting for their visas. As many as 100 former interpreters who worked for British forces on the front line during the Afghan war – and their families – will now be eligible as long as they have not already fled the country:

#NOLBMORALOBLIGATION
Among the many highlights of this year, our co-founder Janis Shinwari finally received his U.S. citizenship after seven years. He was sworn in by Acting USCIS Director Ken Cuccinelli and received coverage from Fox News, CNN, NPR, Voice of America and others.

In October Ambassador Ryan Crocker received the Sylvanus Thayer Award from the West Point Association of Graduates. In his acceptance speech he remarked:

One way in which the war has changed for uniform services because they are complex largely political affairs is the need for reliance on host country nationals, primarily but not exclusively interpreters. We cannot fight our wars with any prospect of success if we cannot translate ourselves to the population. It is absolutely essential. To get these people to risk their lives serving us in Iraq and Afghanistan, we had to make some commitments that we would take care of them. If they served us, we would ensure that they were able to get here to safety afterwards through the Special Immigrant Visa
I started the program in Iraq in 2007. I revitalized it in Afghanistan in 2011, but there are still problems - bureaucratic delays, lack of resources, just stringing it out.

So I am very proud to join General Petraeus on another joint mission. We are both on an Advisory Board for an organization called No One Left Behind which works intensively with Congress and with others to make sure we live up to our commitment to those who have served us in very very difficult positions.

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=vxjfuCxBJGs&feature=youtu.be

In November Ambassador Crocker entered our research into the official Congressional record during his opening remarks in front of the House Armed Services Committee:

I'd like to take just a moment on another special group of individuals that have sacrificed a great deal for us and those are interpreters and other Afghan individuals who have helped our mission in that country. Mr. Chairman, you recently received a letter from Senators Shaheen and Wicker asking that the necessary steps be taken to grant 4,000 additional visas for these brave individuals and their immediate families. There's a backlog of almost 18,000 cases and these are individuals at enormously serious risk.

No One Left Behind, a group dedicated to bringing our interpreters and others here to safety, calculates that about 300 individuals, interpreters, and their family members have been killed while waiting for the visas we promised them and have delivered slowly and in disappointing small numbers. So I would urge this committee as it moves ahead to do the right thing - the thing we promised. Bring these brave people here. Bring them home. Their new home. We will never regret having done so.

If we fail in this endeavor, we will reduce, I think, own core values. The nature of war has changed. There is no more total war - we can be grateful. Conflicts of the future are going to require interpreters and the world is watching this case. Again I commend this committee for its support for the Special Immigrant Visa program. I urge that you take the necessary steps to see that these people are able to leave danger behind and come here to us. They earned it. They paid for it. Thank you Mr. Chairman.

The Board met with Afghan Ambassador Roya Rahmani, the U.S. Institute of Peace Afghanistan Study Group, the West Point Combatting Terrorism Center, and Brown University’s Costs of War Project to discuss future partnerships in 2021.

We collected over 1,000 SIV applicant signatures on a petition to President-Elect Biden to reform the SIV process. They all included their NVC and Embassy application numbers and most cited death threats. The Washington post covered this effort at the end of the year:

Lastly, CBS picked up the sitcom The United States of Al, which tells the story of a friendship between Riley (Parker Young), a Marine combat veteran struggling to readjust to civilian life in Ohio, and Awalmir (aka: “Al”; Adhir Kalyan), the interpreter who served with his unit in Afghanistan and has just arrived to start a new life in America. It is will air on April 1st, 2021.

2021 Advocacy Goals:

- Continue building a broad bipartisan, bicameral coalition
- DoD definition of local national translator or interpreter
- Formal recognition of SIV’s bravery and sacrifice from Congress or White House
- Work with Middle East regional partners to house SIVs (Sen. Warner has offered this idea publicly) which allows State investigators to access a safe and centralized population
- Work with California, Texas, and Virginia state governments to purpose state legislation similar to CA and CO’s in-state tuition bills

Fundraising Report

NOLB worked with Dr. Christine Emery, formerly of George Washington University and the Wilson Center, and Jennifer Harris of Graham Pelton to scope our fundraising requirements. After a thorough evaluation of proposals as well as an internal review of our capabilities, the Board selected Black Fox Philanthropy’s Painless Prospecting service to provide recommendations for over 50 foundation grants to which we will apply. Black Fox worked with NOLB to create a superior grant template as well as an executive press kit that helps convey our social impact. Additionally, NOLB hired Schultz and Williams to conduct a wealth screening of our 280 top donors which helped us understand how best we can work with them in the future.

In 2021 we will pursue our $15M capital campaign as part of our 2035 strategic plan, “Plan 2035” (listed below). Pending available resources, we intend to hire a strategic fundraising and consulting team to help us actualize our capital campaign. We will continue to reach out to major U.S. corporations with a focus on members of the Professional Services Council. Just as we built a coalition of support among the Veteran Service Organizations, we aim to build a similar coalition among the DoD contractors who relied on interpreters overseas.

WHO WE ARE

No One Left Behind (NOLB) began when Afghan translator and Special Immigrant Visa (SIV) recipient Janis Shenwari took $35,000 raised for him through a GoFundMe campaign, and founded an organization to help others like him. Janis saved 5 American soldiers as a translator, yet waited years for his visa. He received death threats from the Taliban for his affiliation with U.S. forces.

Today, we are the only national organization solely dedicated to assisting SIVs. Driven by the warrior ethos to never leave a comrade behind, our leadership comprises veterans of the Afghanistan and Iraq wars who are working to help our allies navigate U.S. national security and immigration policy - getting them to the U.S. safely, helping them achieve the American Dream, and keeping our promise.

#NOLBMO#RALOBLIGATION

THE PROBLEM: A BROKEN PROMISE

The United States’ imminent withdrawal from Afghanistan will leave the SIVs still stranded without recourse and safety for them and their families.

- During conflicts in Afghanistan and Iraq over the last 19 years, combat translators have put themselves in harm’s way to aid American troops, and many directly saved lives.

- The government’s Special Immigrant Visa (SIV) program, intended to support the legal, merit-based immigration of our allies is impeded by bureaucracy and unduly burdensome to applicants.

- Failing to keep our promise to wartime allies presents a national security concern

One of the translators who had worked with the Navy SEALs said he had been “honored” to do so. “I’m so proud of all the days I’ve been working with the greatest forces in the world,” he said. “But the problem is that after they are gone, their government doesn’t care about us.

Washington Post November 12, 2020
THE PROBLEM: THE AMERICAN NIGHTMARE NOT THE AMERICAN DREAM

SIV families have been made even more vulnerable by the COVID-19 pandemic, with many facing extreme financial pressures.

- For the SIV recipients (SIVs) who finally make it to the U.S., rather than the hero’s welcome they deserve, they are faced with numerous obstacles.

- Gaps in the resettlement process compromise the financial stability of SIVs attempting to navigate a new way of life.

- A lack of familial and communal support to which most SIVs and their families are accustomed makes the transition even more difficult.

- We were able to help 600 families, but we received over 1,800 additional requests for help that we could not fulfill.
OUR SOLUTION

In the same way our translators were bridges between U.S. forces and the local populations, we serve as the bridge between them and the American Dream.

No One Left Behind safeguards the promise of self-sufficiency and independence for Afghan and Iraqi combat interpreters immigrating to the United States through:

1. Bi-partisan advocacy
2. Emergency financial assistance
3. A supportive community ensuring long-term stability

#NOLBMORALOBLIGATION
ADVOCACY

Through tireless advocacy, we work to reform a fragmented immigration and resettlement system.

- Before SIVs even arrive in the United States, we represent their interests in the nation’s capital
- We work with Congress, the White House, Departments of State, Defense, & Homeland Security, and other policy makers, we advocate for immigration policy and legislation that will keep America’s promise.
- We advise Federal agencies on how to better execute the SIV program, offering unique subject matter expertise.

#NOBEMORALOBLIGATION
DIRECT AID

Through our direct aid program, we meet the needs identified as most critical:

- Small grants are awarded to help SIV households meet basic needs, including rent, groceries, and furniture.

- No interest loans can provide emergency, one-time assistance or fund the tools and equipment needed to launch a new career.

In providing direct aid, we assume the determination and capability of those we serve, providing a hand up to self-sufficiency, rather than a hand out.

#NosBmoralObligation
BUILDING CAPACITY & COMMUNITY

Our capacity-building efforts are responsive to the unique needs of each SIV family we serve.

We come alongside SIV recipients and their families to promote social and economic stability. Some of our strategic interventions include help with:

- Purchasing a used car for work
- Accessing higher education, or
- Acquiring a driver’s license.
After serving alongside Coalition forces for 12 years, Abdul, along with his pregnant wife and three young children, received their visas, and escaped from Taliban threats to the U.S. Not only did Abdul arrive in a strange new country in the middle of a pandemic, but shortly thereafter, two of his sons were diagnosed with serious medical issues.

When we met Abdul, he and his family were living in a hotel near Children’s National Hospital, with their limited funds dwindling, and no immediate means of self-sufficiency.
When Abdul reached out to NOLB, we were able to respond immediately:

- Covering the short-term expense of the hotel and finding more sustainable apartment housing,
- Helping the family navigate Medicaid enrollment to cover the children’s rising medical costs,
- Finding a used car to support both everyday transportation and future income generation, and
- Connecting Abdul to our SIV Ambassador network for job seeking support.

Today, Abdul and his family are well on their way to self-sufficiency and independence.
Since No One Left Behind was founded in 2013, we have helped to pass 7 National Defense and Appropriations bills, together resulting in over 20,000 visas for our Afghan and Iraqi allies.

In 2020 we assisted over 600 interpreter families with everything from immigration paperwork to direct aid to capacity-building support.

We have developed a coalition of Veteran Service Organizations, including the VFW, American Legion, Vietnam Veterans of America, and others, convening over 5 Million U.S. veterans in support of SIV protection and assistance.
Through our advocacy efforts in the last year alone, we:

- Attracted the most bipartisanship support for the Afghan SIV program in the House of Representatives in its 10 year history.

- Had 4,000 visas re-established to the FY20 National Defense Authorization Act (NDAA). Congress left them out in the FY19 NDAA.

- Amidst the many challenges of 2020, we served 600 SIVs and their families providing over $400,000 in direct aid.
A GREAT NATION KEEPS ITS PROMISES.

WHY YOUR SUPPORT MATTERS

- For as long as they remain in Afghanistan and Iraq, our brave allies are at continual risk of retributive violence.

- While we bear personal responsibility for this work, there is a collective moral obligation for all Americans to protect and care for those who served alongside our troops.

- We estimate a family can be fully re-settled with job training and a car for approximately $15,000.

U.S. Navy Seal
"It is hard for me (Joe) to express just how critical these dedicated people were to our military mission. (Interpreters) helped with our understanding, they provided cultural context to events playing out on the ground; and they came to us with narratives of their own that (were) always very useful in navigating complex situations. They did all that at their own personal risk."
- General Joseph Votel

"The tireless work of many Afghans has saved American lives and aided our mission in Afghanistan. Supporting a special visa program to ensure that those who have fought alongside our troops can apply for refuge in the United States is the least we can do to recognize their service."
- Senator Tim Kaine (D-VA)

"I just can’t emphasize enough how critical their support is to our troops and how they save lives every single day. And that’s why I’ve been so committed to the translators that I served with on the ground in Iraq, and I brought several of them to America because they would probably be dead now if this program didn’t exist."
- Representative Seth Moulton (D-MA)

"Afghan translators are vital allies in our missions in the Middle East. These are people who not only stood and fought with us - they died with us protecting the United States."
- Representative Michael Waltz (R-FL)

"When I served in Operation Iraqi Freedom, I worked with interpreters every day. They always had our backs and were essential to the success of our missions... We cannot turn our backs on them. Our allies must know that they can trust the United States to keep its promises, and I am glad that my colleagues recognize that in passing this bill."
- Representative Steve Stivers (R-OH)

"My interpreter Bagam stepped on the IED. I didn’t step on it, but I just happened to be right next to him, starting right at him. When he stepped on it, he lost all four limbs right away. And my world went dark."
- Representative Dan O’Hansen (R-NC)

"I was introduced to Joe, Ahmed, during my visit earlier this year, when he provided my delegation with a tour and a description for his country’s battle against the Taliban. Joe introduced me to several Afghan interpreters, his family members, and his wife. I stressed to Joe the importance of the U.S. government’s commitment to protect him and his family, and I offered to do everything in my power to support his family’s safety."
- Congressman Adam Kinzinger (R-IL)

"Our U.S. military has relied on the expertise and professionalism of linguists in almost every mission around the globe, especially in Iraq. Now we must serve and sacrificed for their nation, and we owe them a debt of gratitude. My thoughts and prayers are with the families of these heroes and children at this time."
- Representative Doris Matsui (D-CA)

"When we served in Operation Iraqi Freedom, we worked with interpreters every day. They always had our backs and were essential to the success of our missions... We cannot turn our backs on them. Our allies must know that they can trust the United States to keep its promises, and I am glad that my colleagues recognize that in passing this bill."
- Representative Steve Stivers (R-OH)

"There are American men and women in uniform who are aware today, because a lot of Afghan (interpreters) put their lives on the line for their own country... sure...but with us."
- General Mark Milley, Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff

"Afghans continue to stand shoulder-to-shoulder with Americans on the battlefield at tremendous risk to the safety and welfare of their families. Any failure to uphold our nation’s promise to these brave men and women jeopardizes local support in future missions. As a nation, we must be true to our word, and Congress can do its part by making sure enough visas are consistently made available. I’m very pleased that, once again, this effort will be on a bipartisan basis."
- U.S. Senator Jeanne Shaheen

"If the program is not fully funded, our credibility and the sacrifices made by thousands of Afghans in support of Americans and our Coalition partners could be undermined."
- U.S. Army General Austin Miller

"When we talk about holders of Special Immigrant Visas, we are talking about individuals who have provided their invaluable skills, and made critical sacrifices. In order to help secure American lives and advanced U.S. national security, we should not ignore these heroes on them. The stories below tell some of their stories and illustrate their accomplishments."
- Senator Martin Heinrich, Ranking Member Armed Services Committee
“As former chairman and vice chairman of the 9/11 Commission, we encourage the Congress to do everything in its power to keep the nation’s promise to Afghan and Iraqi combat translators and to ensure these intrepid partners can achieve the American Dream. Special Immigrant Visas recipients from Afghanistan and Iraq loyally protected our men and women in uniform. Many directly saved American lives. Their future success will help to prevent the continued growth of Islamist terrorism - the third goal identified by the 9/11 Commission. A great nation keeps its promises."

- Former Governor Thomas H. Kean and former Representative Lee H. Hamilton now serve as the chairs of the congressionally mandated Task Force on Extremism in Fragile States, hosted by the United States Institute of Peace.

We need you to stand with us.

our nation’s promise.

The car which was donated from No One Left Behind has really changed my life. With that car I work pizza and Amazon delivery. I can now support my family. Now I am happy and my family is feeling much more comfortable with our new life in the US. I sincerely thank NOLB for the unforgettable assistance that you gave me and I wish you well for your continued efforts to provide SIVs assistance in future. You are changing our lives.

-Hedayatullah (Washington D.C.)
Dear Friend,

I am writing to express my profound appreciation for No One Left Behind’s work helping America’s allies in Afghanistan and Iraq. I am proud of the post-9/11 veterans and volunteers who realized the deficiency in the U.S. government's approach to helping combat translators and set about fixing the problem.

Without the help of these interpreters and other support personnel, our mission in Iraq and Afghanistan would be nearly impossible. These allies have saved hundreds of American lives while putting their own at risk. Hundreds of them have been targeted and killed because of their affiliation with the United States in an effort to intimidate others from siding with us.

Afghan and Iraqi translators are fully screened by the Department of Defense before they work with our men and women in theaters of conflict. Should their service to our troops put their lives in peril, they are offered the opportunity to apply for a Special Immigrant Visa (SIV). SIV applicants spend years being screened by the Intelligence Community and the Department of Homeland Security prior to receiving their visas.

Those who make it through the screening process arrive in America with just the clothes on their backs. They are faced with the daunting task of starting their lives over from scratch in the United States.

These brave men and women require similar care that US veterans need, but they do not have access to any benefits from the Veterans Administration. That's where No One Left Behind steps in. No One Left Behind advocates on behalf of SIVs to policy makers, the media, and business leaders. They identify macro-level programs to help SIVs achieve the American Dream. English classes, job opportunities, furniture and household item donations, car grants, and transcript accreditation are just some of the programs that No One Left Behind has developed for over 12,000 combat translators and their family members throughout the United States. Due to our continuing mission in Iraq and Afghanistan, we expect more to arrive in the future.

We pray that the US will not become entangled in future conflicts in the region, but if we do, the importance of indigenous support will be critical. America must show a commitment to these loyal allies to show others that supporting US interests will be honored. I’m proud to stand with the men and women of No One Left Behind in their mission to keep our promise to our wartime allies.

Sincerely,

Robert M. Gates

Former United States Secretary of Defense

To whom it may concern:

I write today to express my gratitude for the non-profit No One Left Behind. They have tirelessly supported the 24,000 Afghan Special Immigrant Visa (SIV) recipients in the United States. Right now, these SIVs and their families are being disproportionately affected by COVID-19. Many are U.S. green card holders who drive for Uber and Lyft as their primary source of income, and they cannot provide for their families because of the crisis. Imagine fleeing the Taliban only to come to the United States during a pandemic. This is reality for families in Maryland and California who arrived in early March.

Afghans are resilient people. They have endured 40 years of war, and they will endure this crisis thanks to their friends who stand shona ba shona – shoulder-to-shoulder – with them. No One Left Behind is committed to helping Afghan SIVs succeed in America. The Afghan people and I are eternally grateful for their support.

Very respectfully,

Roya Rahmani
Ambassador of the Islamic Republic of Afghanistan to the United States
Statement on No One Left Behind by General David Petraeus (US Army, Ret.)

No One Left Behind helps our country fulfill a moral obligation to Afghan and Iraqi translators who faithfully served alongside our military in the wars in Afghanistan and Iraq. These individuals provided enormous assistance to our forces as they carried out their duties alongside our Soldiers, Sailors, Airmen, and Marines. But, because of the assistance they provided to U.S. forces, many of them and their families are now targeted by the Taliban, the Islamic State, and other extremist and insurgent groups.

No One Left Behind (NOLB) was formed in 2013 to help these battlefield comrades and their families navigate the SIV process, and to then welcome them to the United States by helping them resettle in major cities across the country. NOLB provides for furniture, transportation, employment guidance, English education, help with medical care, emergency financial assistance, and supportive communities of U.S. Veterans and volunteers united in helping our allies become self-sufficient and embark on a path to achieve the American Dream.

SIVs occupy a unique space, being both refugees from and, in a sense, “veterans” of the wars in Afghanistan and Iraq. They often experience many of the same challenges that U.S. Veterans encounter; however, they cannot go the Department of Veterans Affairs for assistance. NOLB helps fill this gap.

Both President George W. Bush and President Barack Obama have recognized No One Left Behind’s efforts. And because of NOLB’s proven track record, the U.S. State Department formally requested NOLB’s help in establishing resettlement operations in an area of the country that had no support structure for SIVs.

NOLB has also helped to inform policy makers and the media on the needs of those seeking and using SIVs. Bipartisan efforts on Capitol Hill have resulted in several pieces of legislation that have appropriated funds for over 20,000 visas since 2013. NOLB will continue to be both a voice and part of the support system for those using SIVs here and abroad, but NOLB’s volunteers need additional help.

It is a privilege for me to stand with No One Left Behind · and to encourage others to do likewise as we seek to discharge a moral obligation to the Afghan and Iraqi heroes to whom we and those who have worn our country’s uniform in Afghanistan and Iraq owe so much.

Sincerely,

Statement on No One Left Behind by General Stanley McChrystal (US Army, Ret.)

I write today to convey the critical national security capability combat interpreters provide to our Special Operations Forces. Interpreters join our teams – taking on great risk to them and their families – to be the eyes and ears of our teams far from home. Many interpreters served in combat and saved American lives – some in Afghanistan and Iraq were killed because they supported the United States. Their operational impact cannot be understated.

The Special Operations community will need interpreters indefinitely. We cannot earn the trust of the local population without combat translators. We cannot earn the trust of those who volunteer to stand shoulder-to-shoulder with us if we cannot keep our promise to them. Just as interpreters are a bridge between our forces and civilians, No One Left Behind serves as that bridge between Special Immigrant Visa recipients (SIVs) and Americans.

I am proud of the work No One Left Behind does to raise awareness for SIVs. I applaud their efforts to honor our allies as heroes. Their mission to provide emergency rent, cars, and employment opportunities to help this community achieve the American Dream embodies the Warrior Ethos.

Sincerely,

Stanley McChrystal

Dear Senator Shaheen,

I would like to express my strong support for the Afghan Special Immigrant Visa (SIV) program. It is my very firm belief this program is critical to success in Afghanistan and for the long-term interests of our Nation. If the program is not fully resourced, our credibility and the sacrifices made by thousands of Afghans in support of Americans and our Coalition partners could be undermined.

During my four years in Afghanistan, I have personally seen many Afghans put themselves and their families at risk to assist our forces in pursuit of stability for their Nation and the continued safety of ours. Several of them have returned to Afghanistan as United States citizens and continue to contribute to this day. The stories of these brave men and women are truly inspiring. In many cases, they served as translators accompanying our troops into combat at great personal risk; many were injured and some were killed.

All of these Afghans placed themselves at great personal risk. They endured threats to themselves and their families to help secure our homeland. I believe they have earned the opportunity to pursue the American dream. Allowing them to do so is a testament to our national values and loyalty to those who risked their lives on our behalf.

Thank you for your support to the Afghan SIV program and for your continued support to American service members in Afghanistan. We are at a critical juncture in this conflict. On behalf of all of our service members, we are deeply grateful for your support.

Very Respectfully,

Austin S. Miller

Dear Mr. Chairman,

I would like to express my continued strong support for the Special Immigrant Visa (SIV) program. It is my firm belief that if this program is not fully resourced it could significantly undermine our credibility and the 17 years of tremendous sacrifice by thousands of Afghans on behalf of Americans and Coalition partners. These men and women who have risked their lives and have sacrificed so much for the betterment of Afghanistan deserve our continued commitment. Failure to acknowledge their sacrifices and honor our commitments to those Afghans who supported the International Security Assistance Force and Resolute Support missions could have grave consequences for these individuals and bolster the propaganda of our enemies.

During my six years in Afghanistan, I have seen many Afghans put themselves and their families at risk to assist our forces in pursuit of stability for their country. The stories of these interpreters and translators are inspiring. They followed and supported our troops in combat at great personal risk, contributing to the safety and effectiveness of Coalition members every day. Many were injured or killed in the line of duty. Still more have endured threats to themselves and their loved ones because of their service in support of the United States. They have earned the opportunity to pursue the American dream. Allowing them to do so is a testament to our national values and loyalty to those who have risked their lives on our behalf.

Thank you for your support of the SIV program and for your support of American service members in Afghanistan. We are at an unprecedented moment in the history of our campaign thanks to President Ghani’s peace offer to the Taliban and sustained U.S. commitment. On behalf of all of our service members we are deeply grateful for your support.

Very Respectfully,

Plan 2035

No One Left Behind believes our services will be needed for the next 15 years. We estimate a 5-year horizon until the existing program backlog is exhausted, subject to any new SIV programs created by Congress (e.g. Syria). We estimate a 15-year horizon until assistance requests reach 10% of current average annual load of SIVs asking for financial resettlement assistance. By that time, most SIV recipients and their families should be able to successfully establish themselves economically and socially as productive members of society without public assistance for food and shelter. According to GAO (https://www.gao.gov/products/GAO-18-107), 82% of SIVs are self-sufficient after 6 months. We will be able to measure our effectiveness when total assistance requests reach 10% of current average annual load. We estimate that we can keep our moral obligation to our allies who resettle here for $1M per year or $15M through 2035.
